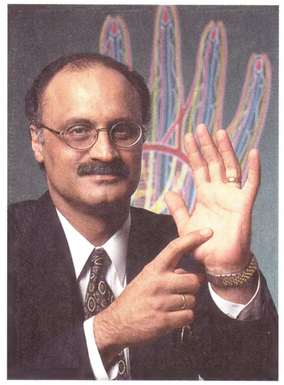
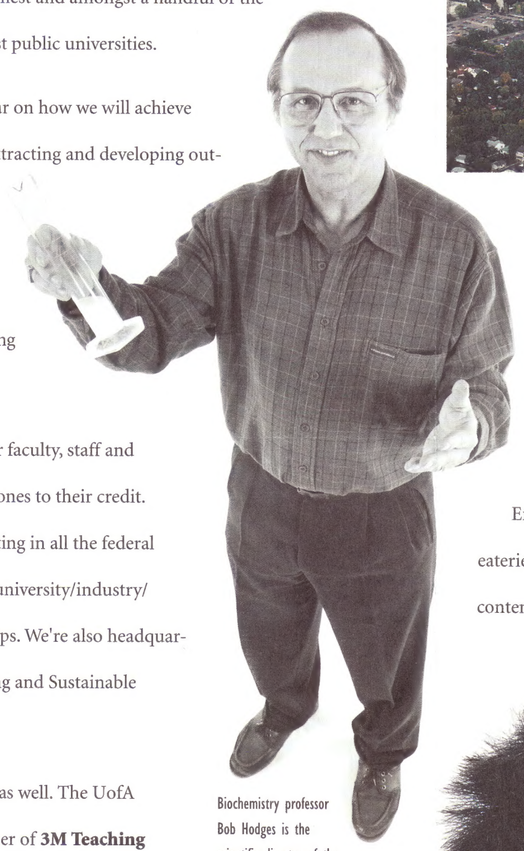
Welcome to the University of Alberta…one of Canada's premier teaching and research universities serving close to 30,000 students with some 6,000 faculty and staff.



Anil Walji was awarded a prestigious 3M Teaching Fellowship, the only national award recognizing outstanding teaching.

We have a very simple objective here at the UofA—to emerge from this and to enter the next century indisputably recognized in teaching, research and community service as one of Canada's finest and amongst a handful of the world's best public universities.

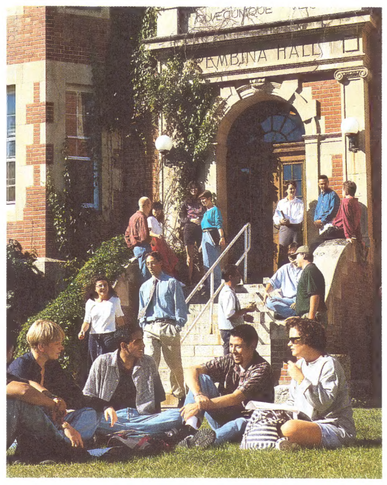
We are clear on how we will achieve this—by attracting and developing outstanding students, by attracting and retaining outstanding staff and by attracting outstanding resources.



Biochemistry professor Bob Hodges is the scientific director of the Protein Engineering Network of Centres of Excellence—centres of excellence for university/industry/government research collaboration and partnerships.

We are well on our way to reaching this goal as our faculty, staff and students already have a number of national milestones to their credit. UofA researchers have the distinction of participating in all the federal Networks of Centres of Excellence—centres for university/industry/government research collaboration and partnerships. We're also headquarters for two Network Centres—Protein Engineering and Sustainable Forest Management.

Our teachers are celebrated outside the classroom as well. The UofA continues to lead the country with the most number of 3M Teaching Fellows—the only national award recognizing outstanding effectiveness in the classroom. We are also only the second university in Canada with two professors who have been awarded with the prestigious Canadian Council for the Advancement of Education (CCAE) and the American-based Council for Support and Advancement of Education (CASE) Professor of the Year award. U of A students are champions in and out of the sports arena. In the past seven of eight years, our varsity athletes ranked number #1 across the country with the most Academic All-Canadian designations—athletes who combine excellence in academics and athletics.



UofA students lounge in front of historic Pembina Hall.

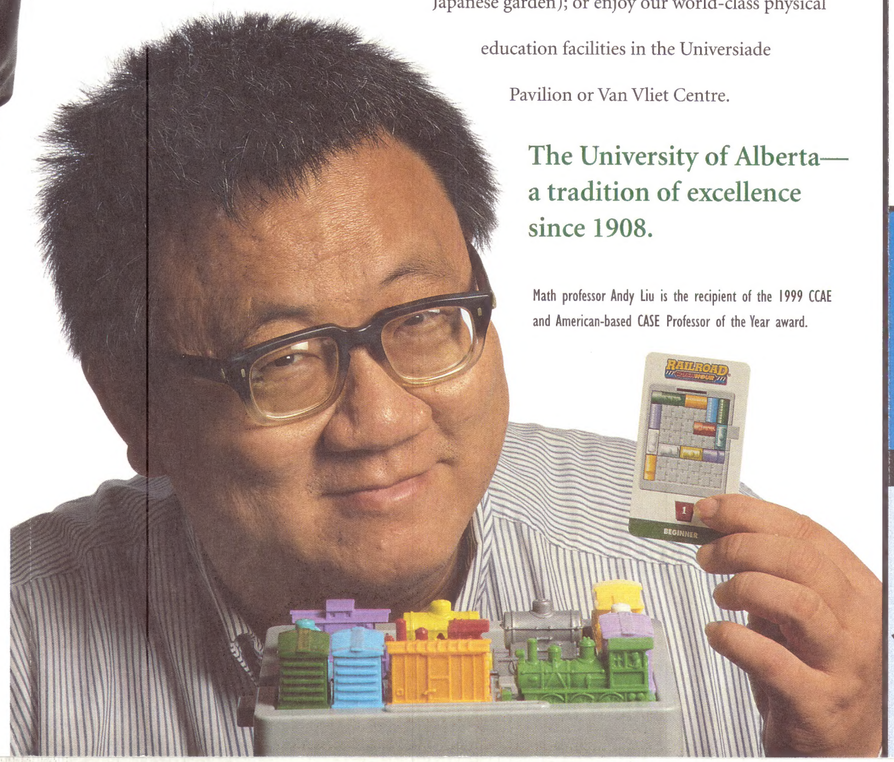
Aerial view of UofA campus and city skyline.

Enjoy your visit to our beautiful park-like campus—taste the delights found in our many eateries in SUB and HUB International; browse in our renowned Fine Arts Gallery; take a contemplative stroll through our Kurimoto Japanese Garden (North America's northern-most Japanese garden); or enjoy our world-class physical education facilities in the Universiade Pavilion or Van Vliet Centre.

The University of Alberta—a tradition of excellence since 1908.



Math professor Andy Liu is the recipient of the 1999 CCAE and American-based CASE Professor of the Year award.
